Council Launches Program For a New City Hall Here

Movie Company Films "The Intruder" Here

The movies came to town again last Friday, marking the fourth such visit in less than a year.

This time the stars were Ida Lupino and Edmund Purdom, and the name of the picture will be "The Intruder."

The movie, produced by Lindley-Parsons Productions for Allied Artists release in August, also stars Ann Harding, but her presence was not required in the scenes shot here.

"The Intruder" is a psychological story which begins in a Korean prison camp. Briefly, it goes like this: Purdom is with a doctor friend in prison camp. Doctor is killed; Purdom is shell-shocked. After arrival in veterans hospital in U. S., Purdom is farmed out at suggestion of hospital officials to family of deceased doctor.

Ida Lupino is the doctor's wife but, to vary the script a little, he doesn't fall in love with her. Instead, he falls in love with the doctor's sister, played by Gloria Talbott, a Glendale brunette who became a blonde for this part.

All ends well in this story based on a Literary Guild selection written in 1953 by Helen Fowler.

The company spent one day in Sierra Madre. It took an entire morning to film a brief bus departure in the square. In the afternoon, the filming took place at the old Evans home at 397 Montecito.

The associate producer of the picture is John H. Burrows; the director is Irving Rapper and the cameraman is Ernest Haller who lists "Gone With the Wind" among his credits.

Final Rites for E. D. Burbank, Noted Educator, Tomorrow

(Eugene Damon Burbank wrote the following obituary himself before his death Tuesday morning in his home at 42 E. Carter at 87 yeras of age. Services will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Ripple Mortuary Chapel, with the Rev. George Lindsay of the Congregational Church officiating. Interment will be in the Sierra Madre Cemetery.)

Mr. Burbank was born Sept. 13, 1868, in Nicolet Falls, Quebec. In 1873 his family returned to Claremont, N. H., from which his ancestors had moved to Canada in 1800.

Mr. Burbank was graduated from Dartmouth in 1891. He was a member of the Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity, the Casque and Gauntlet Senior Society and the Phi Beta Kappa Scholarship Society.

After graduation his active career was in education. For two years he taught in the Evanston, Ill., High School; then for 30 years he was with Ginn and Co., the educational publishers of Boston.

He visited every state in the United States, every province in Canada, the Hawaiian Islands, China, Japan and the Philippines. For 12 years he was assistant manager of the company's Chicago office.

In 1923 he retired and came to Sierra Madre. During the First World War he was at the head of the War Camp Community Service in Vancouver, Wash. In 1926 and 1927 he and his wife spent 13 months on a trip around the world.

He was a member of the Sierra Madre Library Board for more than 10 years. He served the U.S. Chamber of Commerce as director, national councilor, and was also director of the San Gabriel Valley Chamber of Commerce.

At the time of his death he was a member of the Sierra Madre Congregational Church and the Society of Colonial Wars. Earlier he had been a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, the Sierra Club, the University Club of Pasadena, Kiwanis and other organizations.

He was married Dec. 23, 1893, in Evanston, Ill., to Miss Caroline Clifford. (Mrs. Burbank died March 23, 1953, at the age of 84.)

Little Coast Leaguers Set For Training

Johnny Lindell, retired major league pitching great, will be on hand to greet 100 Sierra Madre Little Coast League boys when spring training begins March 26 at 9 a.m. at the Sierra Madre School diamond.

The five-day training school is under the direct supervision of Harry H. Howard, local committee chairman of Sierra Madre's Little Coast League activities.

A three hour practice aession each morning of the spring program will acquaint the boys with the fundamentals of baseball, according to Mr. Howard.

All boys from grades 4, 5 and 6 in any Sierra Madre school are invited to participate in the workout on Saturday mornings from 9:30 to 12 o'clock.

Since 1954, when he retired from major league baseball, Mr. Lindell has been with the Seven-Up Youth Foundation.

Judge to Address PTA Meeting

At the regular monthly PTA meeting tonight at 8 p.m., Judge William E. Fox of the Burbank branch of the Superior Court will speak on the subject "As the Twig is Bent."

He will discuss how community, schools and churches can work together on a juvenile protection program for the youngsters of Sierra Madre.

The PTA will open the school auditorium for this meeting and invitations are extended to all parents of children in Sierra Madre public schools, St. Rita's Parochial School, and the Community Nursery School.

Nursery School Plans Program

The public is invited to attend a talk by Dr. Sidney Lasell on "Where Do We Draw the Line" at the Sierra Madre Community Nursery School, 701 E. Sierra Madre Blvd., March 20 at 8 p.m.

40 Senior Citizens Are Set for Jubilee

Forty of Sierra Madre's senior citizens have indicated their intention to participate in Sierra Madre's Diamond Jubilee, to be held April 15-21. The week long celebration is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, and events are scheduled for each day.

Gifts Spur Drive For Reserve Crew

Gifts of $35 and $25 and an offer by the Lions Club to buy helmets and head lamps this week launched the drive to furnish equipment for the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Crew.

The $35 gift was from Mrs. Russell Graham, 250 Monte Vista Lane, and was the first of such individual gifts in the current campaign to furnish $952 worth of sorely-needed equipment for the mountain rescue group. The Exchange Club donated $25.

At the same time, the Lions Club here instructed the rescue group to purchase such helmets and head lamps as are needed and to have the bill—estimated at $175—sent to the club.

Sierra Madreans wishing to contribute may send checks to:

The committee which is preparing the Diamond Jubilee Pageant for April has announced a first reading of the pageant story and the illustrative songs for tomorrow evening in the Junior Chapel of Congregational Church.

All Sierra Madreans who are willing to take some part, either in the scenes or in the singing, are invited.

According to the chairman, Dr. Raymond Pease, this first meeting is for organization, assignment of parts and an over-all view of the story action.

A preliminary practice of the songs will include the Jubilee Songs, Sierra Madre Home, and the Wreath Song for crowning the Wistaria Queen. He stated also that many more participants are needed for the many short parts that make up this historical story.

Officers Here Are Named by Concert Group

Mr. and Mrs. F. Joseph McCormack, 823 Canyon Crest Drive, were named co-chairmen of the Sierra Madre branch of the Foothill Community Concert Association at a recent meeting, Mrs. Noren Eaton, former chairman, announced.

The McCormacks will direct the association's annual one-week membership campaign the first week in April. Both are members of the association's board of directors, and Mr. McCormack was named second vice-president in the recent officer election.

Mrs. Eaton has been chosen as association secretary, while Mrs. Dan D'Arcy of Sierra Madre was re-elected as reciprocity chairman. Mrs. P. R. Woodworth was elected to the board. Mrs. Hugh Colvin also is a director.

Other officers include George Skelton of Monrovia, president; Mel Pratt of Arcadia, first vice-president; Mrs. Frances C. Potts, music adviser; Mrs. R. W. Straub, treasurer and Joe Burcham, concert chairman.

The association will mark its tenth anniversary this year. Concerts are presented in the Auditorium for members from Arcadia, Duarte, El Monte, Temple City, Monrovia and Sierra aMdre.

$16,500 Received For 1954 Floods

After more than two years of dickering, the City of Sierra Madre this week received a check from the Federal Government for $16,500.17 for expenses incurred during the 1953-54 fire and floods here.

The city first had asked for about $27,000, which was whittled to about $21,000 by the Government. Deductions for what were termed ineligible items brought the final figure down to $16,500.17.

However, the city believes some of the deductions are questionable, and there'll be more dickering before the case is closed.

The reimbursement was forthcoming because the disaster occurred on federal lands.

$32,000 Levy Forces Store's Bankruptcy

Ralph Hurwit, owner of Ralph's Family Shoe Store, 41 N. Baldwin, has been forced to file a voluntary petition in bankruptcy as a result of a $32,862 judgment rendered against him, the law firm of Gitelson, Ashton, Moore & Coyle reported yesterday.

The judgment was returned as a result of an auto accident involving Mr. Hurwit's son, Alan, on Jan. 24, 1955, on Sierra Madre Blvd. The car Alan was driving struck Miss Alice M. Jaeger.

Subsequently, Miss Jaeger filed a damage suit of $100,000 against the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hurwit in Los Angeles Superior Court.

The judge ruled that Alan was an agent of his parents at the time of the accident and returned the $32,862 judgment. A motion for a new trial was denied and an execution was levied against the shoe store and all of its inventory.

Mr. Hurwit's law firm reported that his client had no alternative but file a petition in bankruptcy.

Search for Location, Financial Study OK'd

The City Council voted Tuesday night to undertake a study leading to possible erection of a new city hall.

At the same time, the Council voted up to $1,500 for the painting of the assembly hall, most of the offices and outside woodwork on the present city hall.

On a motion by Councilman Lorne Pratt, the Council voted to instruct Kay Kalicka of Gordon Whitnall & Associates, the city's planning consultant, to prepare a study of possible location for a new city hall.

The city administrator was directed to prepare cost studies of architectural expenses and the Finance Committee of the Council was instructed to look into methods to finance the new structure.

The present city hall was built in 1927 on a $24,000 bond issue after the site and foundations were donated to the city by the Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Department.

It was pointed out at the meeting that business licenses so far this year have brought revenues of $13,650 as compared to the $10,000 budgeted for the entire year. The increase was ascribed to stricter enforcement and inspection.

With these funds and the expected revenues from the increased county sales tax—plus $16,500.77 received this week from the U.S. Government for expenses during the 1953-54 fire and floods—it was believed the city may now be in financial shape to go ahead with the new city hall.

Meantime, the sad shape of the present city hall required an immediate paint job, the Council decided. The annual budget provides $2,600 for improvements on the city hall.

In other actions the Council:

1—Approved a request by the Los Angeles County Flood Control District for permission to construct the Lima St. storm drains to the Lima and Auburn debris basins. The drains will be totally underground except at the outlet. Construction is expected to begin May 10 and be completed Jan. 1, 1957.

2—Voted to abandon Assessment District 3 in light of the county's refusal to allow use of gas tax monies to improve Carter, Ramona, Michillinda and Fairview on the grounds that these are not major streets.

3—Heard a report on the commission for the new parking district, which held its organizational meeting last week. The commission, composed of Carl Hansen, Don Jackson and Tom Schwartz, will meet on the second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Schwartz has been named chairman.

GOP Meets To Plan for Campaign

The Sierra Madre Republican Club Executive Committee met Tuesday evening in the home of President Charles E. Morrison to organize and plan for the coming campaign.

Activity for the present will be centered on registration and precinct organization, according to Mrs. Charles H. James, chairman of this activity.

"By the time of the November election every Republican in Sierra Madre will be on the voter rolls and alerted to the issues," Mrs. James believes.

To this end, a complete precinct organization is planned. Richard Thayer, in charge of fund-raising and membership, announced that plans are being studied for public events to arouse interest in the election.

The selection of Harold Roberts as public relations chairman also was announced at the meeting.

Sierra Madre Girl Will Be Soloist At Benefit Concert

Sue Sauter, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Sauter, 174 S. Sunnyside, Sierra Madre, will appear as a soprano soloist at the annual benefit concert of the Tuesday Musicale Juniors on March 17.

The concert will be held at 8 p.m. in the main auditorium of the Shakespeare Club.

Another Sierra Madrean, Michael Childers, 15, is a member of the Musicale Juniors' house committee. Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Childers, 170 San Gabriel Court, and is a student at Pasadena Academy.

During the first week in April, Miss Sauter will be one of 10 delegates from Pasadena City College, where she is a senior, to the Model United Nations Conference at Corvallis, Ore. The PCC group will represent Norway.

Member of Concert Team Injured

Miss Marjorie Joyce Scoville, of 272 W. Grandview, is in St. Luke Hospital with a broken collar bone received last Friday in an auto accident.

Contrary to published reports, Miss Scoville, who with her sister has given concert programs all over the country, will be released from the hospital in time for her wedding to Robert Finney Stiles, of the Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena. Mr. Stiles' home is in Osborne, in the San Fernando Valley.

The wedding will take place March 23 in Pasadena Civic Auditorium. Miss Scoville's release from the hospital is scheduled three days earlier.

Miss Scoville is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill James Scoville, 272 W. Grandview. With her sister, Marleen, she has presented 3,000 programs featuring marimba, vibra phones and piano all over the U. S. and in Alaska.

Miss Scoville also conducts the annual Story Hour for children here during the Christmas season.

The auto accident in which Miss Scoville suffered her injury occurred when the brake locked on an auto carrying her and two companions to Norwalk. The three, who are in nurses training at Huntington Memorial Hospital, were to take their psychiatric affilliate at Norwalk.

When the car's brakes locked, the driver was thrown from her position behind the wheel and the driver-less auto weaved a perilous path through three-lane traffic before it was brought to a stop.

Miss Scoville suffered her injury when she was thrown from her seat, but the driver and the other passenger escaped with bruises.

A Good Artist Is a Prophet, Panel at Library Concludes

By Kurt Lasher.

Is Art Necessary? That was the theme of the Art Forum sponsored by the Friends of the Library in the Sierra Madre Public Library on March 5.

Since both artist and layman were represented, I thought that the arguments tossed around here might interest the general public as well.

First I must pay tribute to Mr. Jirayr H. Zorthian, one of America's outstanding portrait and mural painters, for it was his work which decorated the walls in superb draftsmanship and color.

I was particularly touched by the tremendous flexibility and variety of interests which Mr. Zorthian displayed.

He was asked: "What inspires you to paint and how do you go about it?"

His reply was: "I visualize my subject, put it on canvas and perfect it."

"Do you believe it is necessary to be able to draw well before going into expressionism and modernism?"

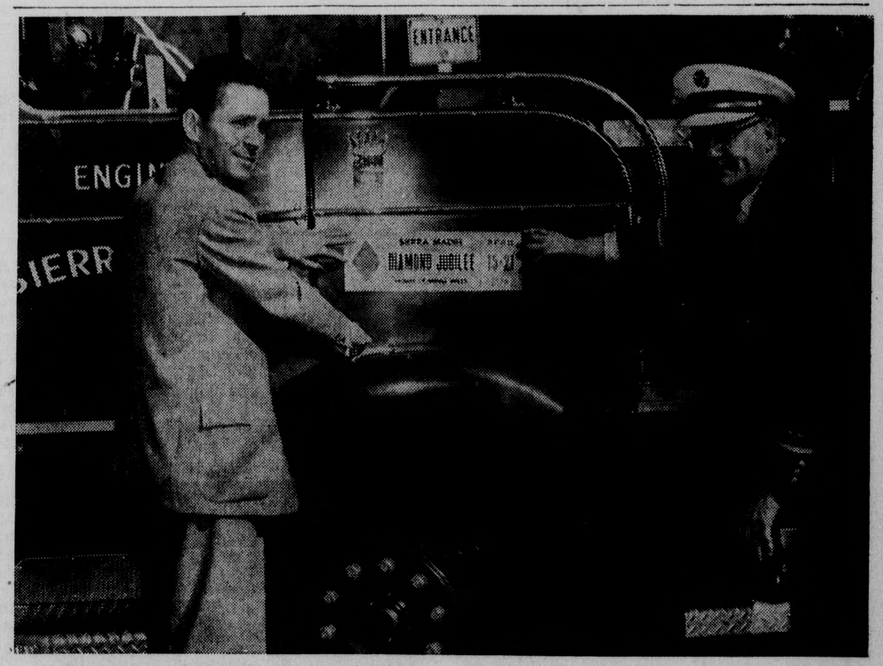

"Definitely," he replied. "An artist must have a thorough basic training before tackling any deviation."

Jon Caruthers and Allan S. Wood, our other two artist panelests, helped to make this discussion lively and interesting

One of the main stumbling blocks seemed to be the interpretation of art itself.

Is a dress, a hat, a house or a room considered a necessity alone on a piece of artistry?

One opinion was that everything that is created by man with love is also art.

IF YOU LOOK closely, you can see that City Administrator Lawrence C. Bevington, left, and Fire Chief James Heasley are attaching a sticker announcing the city's Diamond Jubilee on a Sierra Madre fire truck. The stickers will adorn the city's police and fire equipment in addition to residents' cars and business store windows calling attention to the celebration of Sierra Madre's 75th anniversary in April.

A Bargain You Can't Miss

Every day of the year the American people call upon the Red Cross for help. Yet only once each year does the Red Cross turn to the people for support.

That's a bargain you cannot afford to miss during this, the annual fund drive, of the Red Cross.

When disaster strikes, the Red Cross is neighborliness in action, providing shelter and clothing for the homeless, food for the hungry, medical and nursing care for the ill and injured, information for anxious families and friends, and long-term aid to victims who cannot get started again without help.

The Red Cross currently is in the midst of one of the most costly disaster years in history. At the half-way point in the organization's 1955-56 fiscal year, the Red Cross had committed more than $20,000,000 to bring relief to victims of catastrophe. In the previous year, $7,195,255 was spent on all disasters.

Over the past Christmas weekend, the Red Cross operated 57 shelters—most of them in the hard hit northern California area—and housed and fed more than 20000 persons.

A preliminary estimate indicated that the western states floods may cost the Red Cross between four and five million dollars.

Without the generous support of the American people, the past 75 years of Red Cross service could never have been performed.

Keep the Red Cross on the job. Join and serve so that the future will be as bright as the Red Cross record of the past.

On the Lemon, Ad Nauseum

Once upon a time there was a beautiful empress, so an old legend goes, who wanted to be still more lovely.

So she cast about until she found a potion to make her complexion "as exquisite as the waxen lotus petals." Enchanted with her discovery, she kept her beauty secret hidden from the world in a jeweled, lacquered box, where it was found after her death.

The magic ingredient? The lemon again. Yep. Or so the lemon industry informs us through a continuing barrage in celebration of its 100th anniversary.

Actually, the lemon has been around a lot longer than that. Old Chris Columbus brought it to this country. And the Chinese used it in medicine as early as the 12th Century.

It's a fruit that gets around. The lemon industry obviously has gone to a great deal of trouble to tote up its uses, so the least I can do is pass them on.

Besides its many uses as a fruit, the lemon is used in making soaps and cleaners, floor and shoe polishes, household fly sprays, pharmaceuticals, perfumes, cosmetics, paper coatings, latex stabilizers, printing inks and cattle feed.

Yep. And 89 per cent of the commercial crop in the United States comes from good old California.

That's why it came as a shock to learn this week that we out here where the darned things are grown can't get a lemon to compare to those sold in the snow-kissed East.

The reason, as nearly as I can translate this high-powered advertising language, is that cheaper, lower-grade fruit keeps the premium grades off the grocery shelves.

Yep. But don't worry. We're going to have a "Spring Zing" Sale (that's what it says) this month, if the industry has anything to say about it, to raise our lemon standards up to those in the East. How about that!

You'll be happy to know that this is the last you'll hear from me about lemons. I'm getting kind of sick of them.—W.F.T.

This Is Real Progress

That scourge of party telephone users—the line hogger—is on the way out.

That, at least, is the word from the California Farm BBureau, which serves rural areas where the line hog on those old "crank and pray" instruments is a particular menace.

As dial phones replace the old-style gadgets, mechanical circuit breaks are being installed. These line hog controllers are now in use on several systems, including the General Telephone Co. which serves areas in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, Orange and San Bernardino Counties.

In Southern California the circuit break goes into operation after 10 minutes. A warning sound in the receiver shortly before the circuit is broken gives loquacious Sue a chance to bring her chatter to a quick close.

This is real progress.

Now, if only each customer were provided with individual circuit breaks to shut off noisy television sets in bars, restaurants and other alleged places of repose, what a much happier world this would be!

Artist at Work

"I DON'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT ART BUT I DO KNOW WHAT I LIKE . . . AND I CAN PAINT EVERY BIT AS GOOD AS MY 5-YEAR-OLD SON . . ."

Lee Shippey asks What Do You Think?

In the spring the housewife's fancy turns to thoughts of gardening — and her husband's automatically turns to thoughts of fishing, far from any garden tools.

It's amazing how many things men have to do somewhere else when there's a lot that should be done about the place.

On a fishing trip, a man may do twice as much work as he ever does at home, and declare it's fun. But I suspect that in many cases a large part of the pleasure comes from thinking of jobs he isn't doing at home.

It this be treason to my sex, make the most of it—for this column has to stir up controversy some way.

* * *

JUST BACK of our police station lives a man who has a controversial idea. He shows, or attempts to show, that women make a lot of unnecessary to-do about laundry work.

ONCE A WEEK or so he hangs his washables out on the line, hanging them carefully and straight. Then, with a sprayer, he sprays liquid soap or deturgent on them and then, after a while, turns the hose on them full force.

Off comes soap and dirt until nothing but clear water drips from the clothes and, to mere masculine eyes, they look just as clean as can be.

Hanging so straight, they dry as smoothly (to mere men's eyes) as if they had been ironed, besides which all the water pouring off of them has watered his lawn. No need for a fancy washing machine or ironing machine.

Just a man with imagination showing the women how they might save themselves a lot of work.

I LOVE TO SEE and hear children playing on a school ground. I greatly prefer the voices of playing children to grand opera and all kinds of moo-cow singing such as so often makes radio a pain in the ears.

But every time I pass the school while the swings are all occupied I wonder if the application of some grease somewhere wouldn't lessen the screeching of the swings, which, I believe, hang from iron supports.

Maybe it wouldn't, and I certainly wouldn't wish the children to be deprived of a minute of their fun. But I suspect the people living across the street would be glad if something could be done.

I'm proud of our schools and the way they are run. But the swing chains do squeal.

WHAT A WONDERFUL service it is to have the chest-X-rayers spend two days here, as they did last week. Having just paid for some X-rays in a hospital—$43.50 for a few minutes in the X-ray room—getting X-rayed for nothing seemed such a bargain to this canny Scot that I almost went back to get in line two or three times.

But it makes one wonder why everything in a hospital has to cost so darned much. Very few persons really want socialized medicine, but the costs of serious and protracted illness are so crushing as to spell ruin to many good citizens.

Nearly every week some congressman or senator goes to Bethesda Naval Hospital, near Washington, because those boys who get only $22,500 a year, plus an occasional gift from gas or oil interests, can't afford to go to regular hospitals. Another senator died there just the other day.

Around the Square

The open road was hit in style last week by the W. C. Roberts of East Grand View, who departed for a short sortie around the United States. And in a fabulous car and trailer in matching blue and cream.

Seems they got the car first and had the trailer designed and painted to their specifications. It has a large living room with a wall bed and TV set yet; a separate bath and shower and a kitchen fitted out with plastic dishes.

Since the head of the house retired about two months ago, they are fancy free, have headed through the South to Florida, up to Canada, and left the rest of the family home waiting for postcards.

PATTY OWENS, a pretty North of Ireland gal who is apprentice worm (book, that it) at the Library, can relate some hair-raising exploits of her five-year-old twin brother and sister. Best to date is their new game of one standing at each end of the clothes chute and passing things through. Then they passed a chocolate cake through.

End of game.

MATT WEINSTOCK in the Mirror-News is startled by the woman who, when asked if she wanted double-edge or single-edge razor blades asked "Which is the freshest?"

But how about our own Merrill Miller who works at the Arcadia Feed and Seed, and was asked by a school teacher if she could buy a piece of coal for a class experiment. Merrill explained he could only sell it by the sack, whereupon the teacher asked doubtfully, "But won't it spoil?"

AS SIERRA MADRE grows, the type in the local directory shrinks. This either means business for Dan D'Arcy or someone is going to invent an arm stretcher.

And whilst on the subject, the new directory says in the front, among other things, that the Wistaria Vine is estimated to weigh 225 tons. Who f'Hevvin's sake, makes estimates like that?

And it lists the annual rainfall as 25 inches.

When?

For want of a tilde shall a the Street Department doesn't stock the little curve to put over a Spanish "n" and make it "ny"—our Canyon street is being known among newcomers as Canon—like being shot out of.

This is a dreadful fate—it happened in Beverly Hills in the days before they could afford a tilde and now the theater and the next biggest street are called Canon although they were Canyon when we were kids.

Letters to the Editor Column

Dear Sir:

In California, I assume, it's probably considered as blasphemous to criticize the Boy Scouts and their assorted counterparts as it is President Eisenhower or Vice-President Richard Nixon. However, I've decided to risk it.

Many years ago I was a member of the Boy Scouts in another part of the United States. That was during the depression years when hardly anybody had any money.

We met ever week; we paid our dues of 5 cents a week; we spent a lot of time in the woods, and every summer most of us scraped up enough money to go to camp for a week. We had a wonderful time.

We didn't go in for military discipline, we would never have dreamed of saluting anybody and we weren't constantly beating a path up and down the street raising money. We raised all the money we needed ourselves through a few sales, paper drives and jamborees.

We neve thought of accepting money from charitable organizations, such as the Community Chest, etc. Apparently we weren't as overburdened in those days with paid staffs as must be the case in California today.

I see nothing wrong with contributing money to support youth activities in genuinely underprivileged areas. But I think it is an imposition on the citizens of Sierra Madre and other towns to be constantly dunning them for money. For what, I wonder?

OLD TIMER

Dear Editor:

This is an appeal directed to the entire community.

Is there a teacher amongst you? Do you have a college degree and some free time. Have you thought about returning to the teaching profession since the children no longer need you full time at home?

You are needed to help in a critical situation. California alone needs 17,000 new teachers each year for the next 10 years. This is in addition to some 110,000 already employed. These figures do not include the teachers employed in private and parochal schools.

The above figure shocked all of us attending the Recruitment Clinic held at Occidental College on March 5. This was one of five clinics held throughout the state under the auspices of the State Department of Education, California Teachers Association, and California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

It included representatives from both lay and professional groups. The purpose of the clinic was to stimulate the development of a coordinated local and state-wide teacher recruitment program.

Dr. Claude Fawcett, educational consultant for the National Association of Manufacturers, told us that the implication of a teacher shortage upon society means we shall not have people who can contribute to society within the framework in which we live.

Our only protection against tyranny in government is an educated citizenry.

"The price we shall pay is nitwitism and destruction if we do not have enough teachers," he said.

We were told that we lose one out of five teachers each year through retirement, maternity, and other jobs. We must work harder to keep the teachers we have and to recruit you who have ability and the training, perhaps needing only a little encouragement to get your state certificate.

For you who have a family it means you have time to be with your children after school, week-ends, and vacations. You have advantages of a retirement fund.

For you who want to augment the family income, part-time employment as a substitute is possible.

Do you want to know more? Call me or Miss Betty Newton, principal of Sierra aMdre Schools. You also may call the Department of Certification, at MUtual 9211.

The rest of you start encouraging your youngsters to consider teaching as a career. It is most challenging and its satisfactions are many.

Dear Editor:

One of Mrs. Pashton's great loves is . . . cats!

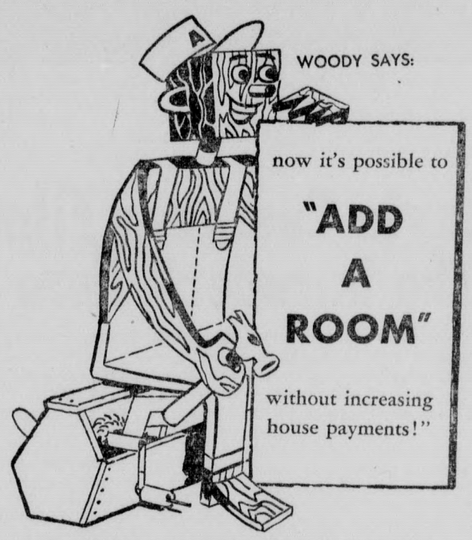

Since our arrival in Sierra Madre, sans cats, we have managed to make our home into a cat-kennel par excellence. When I am in my study attempting to think out some weighty problem, it is annoying in the extreme to have a cat stroll languidly across the desk, slapping playfully at the pages as they turn

It is the same at dinner or in bed.

But will they become friends? No. Rather, they suffer me simply because they feel I may be a soft touch for a meal now and then.

I go into all this because I am still on the subject of our trees. You see, cats have a part in this. Dogs chase cats which climb trees, leading to all sorts of complications. This leaves two courses of action. We can remove the trees, advocated in my earlier letters, leaving no place for the cats to run. With nowhere to escape the cats will then stay home where they belong. The alternative, however, is much simpler . . . do away with the cats, thus removing temptation from the dogs of our village.

Whee. . . . The "Why don't we start a bridge group?" suggestion of Lillian Motz (361 E. San Gabriel Court) really has acceptance! All you bridge players, or "would be" bridge playing gals, take heart! Our only problem now is to set up "two-table" bridge groups to accommodate our varied skills in the game and to find among us an expert willing to help the beginners.

"GOOD FENCES make good neighbors," some poet once said. If this be true then Colony Drive has a lot of good neighbors, judging from the gigantic fence building projects which went on last Saturday. Partners in the post digging project and potluck luncheon which followed were the Penningtons, the Horswells, the Barkleys, the Bells, the Tolfrees, the Albertsons, and the Johrdes.

Sierra Madre Couple Home From Trip Around the World

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lawrence, 227 W. Orange Grove Ave. have just returned from a year's absence and a lengthy trip around the world.

Leaving last January by ship from San Francisco their first port of call was Honolulu, then the Fiji Islands and Auckland, New Zealand, where they disembarked, rented a small car and explored both North and South Islands for a month.

A flight to Sydny followed and five weeks of trveling included trips from Hobart, Tasmania, to Cairns and the Barrier Reef. After two days in Mt. Isa in central Australia, they flew to Darwin and on to Indonesia with a four-day side trip to Bali.

Next to Singapore, Bangkok, Calcutta, with a cool interlude up in Darjeeling, the 8,000-foot high retreat commanding magnificent views of the eternally snow-covered Himalayas.

Next to Benares, the Holy City, and on to New Delhi with a train trip to the Taj Mahal, and another flight to the peaceful and beautiful Vale of Kashmir. By air from Bombay via Karachi and Aden to Nairobi, for a few days, tnd then to Johannesburg.

In Johannesburg they again rented a car, toured down to Capetown and along the beautiful Garden Route to Durban, up into Kruger National Park and back into Johannesburg. Then they went by train to Victoria Falls for a five-day stay before continuing on into the Belgian Congo, where they boarded a steamer for five days on the Upper Congo.

Finally arriving at Albertsville and crossing Lake Tanganika, they engaged a driver and car and continued into Albert National Park, where they saw many elephants, hippos, antelopes, buffaloes and wild birds. They hiked miles into the forest to the pygmy village where the wee folks posed shyly for photographs.

Finally in mid-June they left Kampala in Uganda by train for the beginning of their trip down the Nile, which took 25 days via steamer, station wagon and train through the Sudan and Egypt. They were the only Americans making the trip, their only companion being a young man from Johannesburg enroute to London.

From Cairo they flew to Jerusalem and traveled by bus and taxi to Bethlehem, Hebron, Judea, Jericho—to Damascus, Syria, and Beirut, Lebanon. Then on to Athens for a few days and to Frankfurt, where they picked up the little Volkswagon they had ordered months in advance.

They headed north through Germany into Denmark, Sweden and across to Finland. There they traveled from Helsinki up into the Arctic Circle and across to Hammerfest, Norway, the most northerly city in the world, where they were able to see the midnight sun.

Down through Norway with its beautiful fiords, magnificent waterfalls and extremely friendly people to Bergen and Oslo and around to Gothenberg, Sweden. Then over to Denmark and through Holland Belgium, France and across the Channel to England.

Then they traveled all around England, Wales, Ireland and Scotland and back into France, and along the Normandy coast to Omaha and Utah Beaches and down into the Chateau country—to Paris, Rheims, World War I territory—into Germany to Heidelberg and through the Flack Forest to Bavaria. Then across Austria to Vienna and back to Innsbruck, through Switzerland, with trips to the Jungfrau and to the Matterhorn.

Then came Italy from Milan to Venice to Sorrento—to lovely Capri and charming Ischia. Back to Rome and along the coast to Pisa and the Riviera to Marseille—across the top of Spain and down to Lisbon and the Portugal coast to Seville—then Tangiera nd Gibraltar and Malaga, Granada, Toledo, Madrid and Barcelona.

Next an overnight steamer to lovely Palma on beaitiful Majorca for four days—back to Marseille where they boarded a Swedish freighter for the 15-day voyage back to New York.

After visiting with relatives in New Jersey and Nebraska, they continued the last leg of their wonderful trip in their little Volkswagon, which by this time was registering 22,000 miles.

What did they like best? HOMECOMING. But some day, they say, they would like again to visit "lovely, friendly New Zealand, beautiful Kashmir and lazy relaxing Majorca."

Model Railroads, Planes Are Part of 1956 Hobby Show

Four complete shows will be presented daily and five on Saturday and Sunday in the huge net-enclosed Activity Circle at the 1956 California Hobby Show, which opens tomorrow at Shrine Exposition Hall, Los Angeles.

Model airplanes, racing cars, speedboats, performing animals, obedience dogs, folk dancing and other features will be demonstrated. The show will be open from 1 to 11 p.m. daily and Sunday through March 25.

According to Fred J. Tabery, managing director, the model railroad display will be the greatest ever assembled at the Hobby Show, including one 36 by 12-foot layout, live steam engines and electric models in popular TT, HO, S, O and O-tinplate gauges in operation on miles of scale track in intricate patterns.

A million-dollar ceramics display ranging from exquisite lacework figurines to vases, clocks, jewel boxes and lamps will include how-to-do-it workshops with internationally noted specialists introducing brand new techniques.

Needlepoint paintings, internal plastic carvings, artistic inlay woodwork, copper-tooled paintings and many other arts and crafts will be demonstrated.

Collections will include more than 100,000 miniatures of all kinds from all over the world, lead soldiers, mechanical puzzles, earrings, artificial flowers, primitive instruments and hundreds of others covering three complete floors.

Margaret Mead To Speak at PCC March 20

Dr. Margaret Mead, internationally known anthropologist, will discuss "Orchestrating the Cultures of the World" on the Pasadena City College Tuesday Evening Forum, March 20 at 8 p.m. in the Sexson Auditorium.

Dr. Mead draws on a lifetime of study and original scientific research to picture for her audience the common threads running through all cultural groups. She also brings together a composite of trends and their implications for society.

Dr. Mead has spent most of her adult life doing original research in anthropology, and she has become famous through her books and other interpretations to the world of her findings concerning the peoples she has studied.

At present, Dr. Mead is associate curator of Ethnology, American Museum of Natural History. Her best known books are MALE AND FEMALE, COMING OF AGE IN SAMOA, FROM THE SOUTH SEAS, and GROWING UP IN NEW GUINEA.

Here's hoping every man gets up high in this world—unless it makes him look down on others.

Garden Notes

Get Azaleas in Proper Spot, California Gardeners Warned

"Some like it hot, some like it cold," and in this case we're not talking about the porridge of the nursery rhyme but rather Azaleas, for in general deciduous Azaleas belong in the sun and evergreen Azaleas in the shade.

Where you plant your Azalea plants is very important, says the California Association of Nurserymen, for deciduous Azaleas in the shade may mildew. Evergreen Azaleas (and they are the most popular) enjoy the shade or a combination of morning sun and afternoon shade depending on the locale they're planted in.

Moreover, the various species of Azaleas are suited for different climates. For instance, in both Southern California and Northern California coastal areas the Indicas, Kurumes, Southern Indians, Rutherford Hybrids, Gable Hybrids and Macranthas, all evergreen, will do well. Farther inland in Northern California the Indicas and Kurumes are excellent plantings, too.

For this state's valleys, with the summer heat, special Azalea strains have been developed in the past five years. They are known as the Brooks Hybrids and are between Indicas and Kurumes.

Deciduous Azaleas fall into many categories: America Natives, a western species, Asiatic species, evergreen - deciduous types and hybrid classes, and most of them can be grown throughout the state. Of the American native, a western specie, the Rhododendron occidentale or Western Azalea is native to the Santa Cruz mountains, Sierra Nevada mountains and Southern California mountains as well as Humboldt and Shasta counties of Northern California.

There are many outstanding varieties in each of these classes, deciduous and evergreen. Of the evergreen Indica, Albert and Elizabeth (pink and white) and Pink Pearl are real leaders. In evergreen Rutherfordians, Dorothy Gish (coral) and Purity (white), Constance (pink) and in the Southern Indicas, Fielder's (white) and Formosa (purple) all make excellent plantings.

An outstanding evergreen Gable Hybrid is Purple Splendor and in the new Brooks Hybrids, Redwing and Cardinal are chosen again and again.

Of the hardy evergreen Kurumes, Coral Bells, Firebird and Orchid will add brilliant colors to your garden.

Azaleas, which are a series of the gigantic Rhododendron family, can be planted in the garden as foreground subjects, in raised beds or tubs. If you plan to plant in the garden bed, provide a light, well drained soil containing an abundance of peat moss and leaf mold.

Set the Azaleas in the soil no deeper than in the original container for they are surface rooted plants. Mulch during the summer with peat moss or leaf mold, fertilize with an acid type fertilizer in the spring and keep them moist at all times.

Planted in raised beds, Azaleas do well in pure peat moss on a foundation of wood shavings. In tubs allow space for three or four inches of peat around the root ball and a layer of drainage material in the bottom.

Chosen correctly for climate and planting site Azaleas will bring vivid beauty to your garden. Get your nurseryman to help you in the selection of proper varieties for your garden.

WORKSHOP CLASSES

Arcadia Lumber Co. will sponsor another in the series of classes in woodshop at their store, 214 N. Santa Anita, Arcadia, beginning Tuesday evening, March 20, at 7:30 o'clock. A professional craftsman and instructor, Don Nordvald, will conduct the classes assisted by personnel from the lumber company.

VILLA VIEWS

By Toni B. Maurin

Do you remember what day this happens to be? This is the day you used to wonder how you were going to pay your income tax, but things got so tough that we have been given a whole extra month to worry how we are going to pay it. Things always start looking up again after tax time. Never were truer words spoken when it was said: "It's always darkest before the dawn."

I spoke to Mrs. H. D. Wexelberg, of 1233 Wynn Road, the other day and she asked me to thank Mesdames Robert Parks, Frank E. Clark, George Holmes, Thomas H. Horn, Frank Williams and E. F. Nation for their tireless work in behalf of the Heart Fund Drive. She knows a lot of the ladies ran into some difficulty because of the fact that the drive has almost overlapped with the Red Cross Fund Drive.

Wouldn't it be nice if we could have just one big drive like some of the cities in the East so that all of these worthy charities and researches might profit, and the door bell ringers who work so hard with so little recognition could relax a little and spend their time otherwise. Well, it's a nice thought, but it takes a lot more thinking than I can do.

THE LAS COMPANERAS Fashion Tea was a huge success and well represented by the local ladies. I enjoyed it in the company of Mrs. Richard Pember, Mrs. George Amthor and Mrs. William Friedrich.

* * *

I WAS HAPPY to learn that John Hoffman, of 1247 Wynn Road, returned home after 11 days in the Queen of the Angels Hospital where he was confined for observation and treatment. He is making a satisfactory and rapid recovery.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD Smith, of 3320 Calvert Road, spent the past weekend up at their cabin in Crestline. They had 14 guests, including their son and daughter-in-law, to help celebrate Mr. Smith's birthday.

* * *

WE HAVE two budding Thespians in the area. Mrs. Robert Parks, of 2031 Windover Road, and Mr. Richard Pember gave brilliant performances in "Now Hear This," which was presented last weekend by the Junior Shakespeares. Not only did Mr. Pember do well at one part, he gave his all to three parts!

* * *

MR. CHARLES F. ROBINSON, of 3340 Calvert Road, returned the 9th after a two-week business trip in the East. Mr. Robinson is with Consolidated Electro-Dynamic Corp.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. NORMAN L. White, of 1515 Sierra Madre Villa, left for Palm Springs this week to stay for a week at the Desert Isle. Mrs. White has just recovered from a month's siege with pneumonia.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. PAUL SEICHERT, of 1175 Mesita Road, accompanied their daughter, Carol, on a jaunt to Singing Pines along with 11 other families. They stayed for the weekend and the Girl Scouts did all of the cooking for 50 people for the weekend. This was the Marshall group of Girl Scouts.

Youth Honored At Cub Banquet

A Webelos ceremony honoring Dick Oakley highlighted the annual Blue and Gold Banquet of Cub Pack 377 at the Eugene Field cafetorium.

Dick is the first graduate of the year from the pack and in addition to his Webelos badge was awarded a silver arrow and 3-year pin.

The banquet, under the direction of Dr. Elmer Morton, featured family dining by den and the showing of cartoons and movies.

Den 3 won the attendance and achievement awards. Individual Cubs receiving awards were Bob Brearly, John Sorensen, John Griffith, Foss Morton, Steven Silvers, Mark Franklin, John Ridout, Gail Krenzle, Brad Franks, Don Bye, Pete Calmer, Holmsy Holmes, Rusty Pooler, Bob Steinbaugh, Jeff Holmes, Jeff Hale and Ron Lee.

'Doll Sorority' Meets, Views Collector's Items

The March meeting of the "Doll Sorority" was held in the Monrovia home of Mrs. Joan Flint. To the surprise of each member, she was greeted on arrival at the front porch by a huge and very beautiful 70-year-old fine French bisque little girl doll, looking up with outstretched arms.

Mrs. Flint centered her refreshment table with beautiful Chinese Festival dolls surrounded by camellias. A lovely Chinese tea service was used and the guests were served Chinese tea and cookies.

Complying with club policy, each member brought a doll from her collection to show the group and tell about its origin and history. This month's new member, Mrs. Alice Wakeman of Flintridge, brought her 200-year-old extremely rare and valuable penny-wooden doll—the type played with and dressed by Queen Victoria. The doll's authentic history is in an old letter which tells the doll's complete story and she has had such excellent care she is in pristine condition.

Other members in attendance were Mrs. M. F. Tillford and her 85-year-old Mary Todd Lincoln type China doll; Mrs. R. Selby and a tiny fine bisque "Empress Eugene" with pierced ears; Mrs. M. Allison and her American made Sanders baby doll; Mrs. M. Sheeley and a very old and lovely, all original, papier-mache doll, and Mrs. J. Cummiskey and her musical court jester doll.

Mrs. D. Palmer brought some interesting data on antique dolls to share with the group and the hostess displayed an assortment of magazine and newspaper articles on old dolls, appearing in the 1940's and now in her scrapbook.

The next meeting of these foothill area antique doll collectors will be held in the lovely early American home of Mrs. Marge Allison in La Canada. The members are anticipating a wonderful meeting in this artistic and talented hostess' home. She frequently uses many of her antique dolls, some of them being family heirlooms, for home decorations.

Don Wilsons Have Anniversary Party

Celebrating their 14th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wilson entertained a group of friends at a party recently at their Hastings Ranch Drive home.

Enjoying dancing, cards and a midnight supper were Messrs. and Mmes. E. P. Brown, Draper Jennings, J. J. Jenkins, Bern Peterson, James W. Buchanan, Ernest Calvano, Harold Carvallo, William S. Schroeder, William P. Gardner and O. E. Browning .

TO VISIT AQUARIUM

Cubmaster William Barnes is planning a visit to one of the Aquariums for members of Cub Pack 371 and their parents as this month's outside activity.

Voters OK $11 Million In Bond Issues

Increased sales tax in Pasadena will result in immediate civic improvements totaling $11,000,000. Voters approved eight municipal bond issues amounting to the whopping sum by a 5-to-1 majority, with only 13,175 of the city's 55,625 going to the polls.

Bonds will be financed from Pasadena's share of the State sales tax revenues under the new Uniform Sales Tax Act recently passed by the Legislature.

Results in the city's 83 precincts on the eight propositions were:

No. 1—10,814 to 2,093 for a $6,692,000 bond issue for street improvements.

No. 4—11,269 to 1,522 for a $1,000,000 off-street parking set-up.

No. 5—10,444 to 2,282 for a $1,000,000 worth of storm drains.

No. 4—$11,269 to 1,522 for a $122,000 sewer program.

No. 5—$10,444 to 2,282 for a $554,000 street lighting program.

No. 6—10,471 to 2,308 for a $372,000 public library repair and expansion program.

No. 7—11,136 to 1,678 for $245,000 in improvements in fire fighting facilities.

No. 8—10,926 to 2,540 for $1,015,000 worth of parks and recreation development.

Wrens and Hens Hear Charm Expert At Joint Meeting

Ranch Wrens and Hasty Hens, two women's social organizations of Hastings Ranch, joined the other night for their monthly meetings to hear Marge Gortikon, director of the John Robert Powers School in Pasadena, who was guest speaker.

Mrs. James T. Glynn was hostess to the group in the recreation room of her Greenhill Road home. Guests sat at small tables, which were decorated in the St. Patrick's Day theme, using candles, flowers and place mats.

Assisting Mrs. Glynn as cohostess from the Ranch Wrens were Mrs. Kenneth Kaler, Mrs. Ray Lindman and Mrs. John Atkinson. Plans for the party were made by Mrs. Dunbar Burdick.

Assisting from the Hasty Hens were Mrs. James Stivers and Mrs. Peter Madsen.

Hastings Teen Times

The Hylighters, a musical group from PCC, entertained Marshall students in the auditorium recently. We were all impressed by the way these young musicians could play. They must have some very fine instructions at PCC. One of the boys who has a real great voice sang the popular and beautiful song, "He."

* * *

ANN FRICKE, one of our glamor gals at Marshall, has lots of interesting stories to tell about her dad, Lt. Commander John Fricke, who has just returned from a submarine cruise down along the Mexican coast to Acapulco and back. Wonder if you could get seasick under water in a submarine—will have to ask Mr. Fricke.

* * *

IN TRACK we had our ups and downs with McKinley. Our A team won and the B team lost. So far Marshall is holding first place in track and second place in basketball throughout Pasadena.

* * *

IN OUR next column we will introduce you to a remarkable 9th grader from Marshall who so far has built a successful Hi-Fi outfit, several different amplifiers and a radio that receives stations from all over the world.

* * *

WE HOPE, gentle reader, you will excuse your writer for a short column this week, but the snow is on the ground at Arrowhead, and every so often my Dad gives in and takes us all up there. This is one of those times—he just gave in—and we are all flying around packing before he gains his strength back to continue the struggle. Next week I'll let you know how we made out.

Nursery School Asks For Castoffs for Rummage Sale in May

Hard working members of the Hastings Ranch Nursery School are out collecting old clothing, toys, furniture and what-have-you for a rummage sale set for May 19. If you have anything to give away—anything from outgrown and outdated clothes to old costume jewelry, bedding and dress patterns—Mrs. Clyde Seitz, ELgin 5-2935, will be glad to have someone call and take it off your hands.

ART CLASS CHANGES

The class in Painting and Drawing, which has been meeting on Friday mornings at the Sierra Madre Woman's Club, has changed both location and instructor. Donald Yacoe has replaced Robert Frame as instructor for the class, which now is meeting Friday mornings, 9 to 12, at Fremont School on East Foothill Blvd. in Pasadena.

Friends Surprise William Kinards

The William Kinards, newcomers to Alder Lane, recently opened their front door to find 24 of their friends standing on the porch anxious to come in and give them a surprise housewarming.

The event went very well. The guests came laden with all kinds of food for a buffet supper and a handsome magnolia tree which they presented to the Kinards.

Those taking part in the gala affair were the William M. Caldwells, Lew Lawrences, John Kinards, Robert McCleans, Jack Bakers, William Hogobooms, Henry Clays, Robert Parkers, William Faiths, Hank Howells, David C. Elliots and Kurt McArthurs.

Women Voters League Gets Survey Reports

The first reports presented to the League of Women Voters Juvenile Workshop, on the survey of the agencies for the protection of children in the Pasadena area, which is the local item of study, was given at the workshop in the Members' Room of the Woman's City Club earlier this month.

Mrs. W. L. Barr, 1015 Hastings Ranch, chairman, and her assistant, Mrs. C. M. Shafer, are members of the Hastings Ranch Unit of the League. They bring to the workshop their experience and knowledge which they gained from their work on the juvenile study of the county agencies last year.

Mrs. Barr's individual study last year was the child care centers and Mrs. Shafer's report was on the El Retiro School for Girls. Her previous work in the social welfare field has been of great value to the workshop.

These workshops, sponsored by the League of Women Voters, provide discussion periods on each item for study and are open to anyone interested.

The local agencies which service the Pasadena area that are being reported on in these studies are Boys and Girls Aid Society, Boys Republic, Children's Training Society, Pacific Lodge Boys' Home, Rosemary Cottage, Child Guidance Clinic, Family Service-Pasadena Guidance and the Counciling Department of Pasadena City Schools.

Plans Set for 'Ranch Party' On April 14

Plans were announced today and committees named for the Hastings Ranch Nursery School's annual spring dance April 14 to be held at the Altadena Town and Country Club.

Billed as a "Ranch Party," the affair will find Ranch residents in ginghams and other informal attire.

Tickets are on sale now, with Mrs. William Caldecott serving as ticket chairman. Handling the sale in the Upper Ranch is Mrs. Edward Donald, 1205 Tropical, and in the Lower Ranch, Mrs. David Zinsmeyer, 3740 Landfair. If you have not been contacted and wish to purchase tickets, call Mrs. Donald at ELgin 5-2953 or Mrs. Zinsmeyer at ELgin 5-1622.

A cocktail hour will be held from 8 to 9 p.m. with hors d'oeuvres passed as an added treat. Mrs. Gilbert Olsen is chairman of refreshments, with members of the school preparing them.

Mrs. Clyde Seitz, as ways and means director of the school this year, is general chairman of the event. Mrs. Harris Robison is chairman of decorations, with the Ranch theme to be carried out.

Members of the school are suggesting "block parties" or that neighbors get together to attend the dance in groups.

Hastings Dancers Learn New Jargon With New Steps

A "hook-and-tap" has nothing to do with a hook-and-ladder nor a hook-and-eye.

An "underarm pass" has no connection with any freeway.

"A lady's fan" is not for keeping the lady cool—or covered.

But these miscellaneous phrases are connected and mean something to a group of Hastings Ranch couples now counting their way through a series of dance lessons Friday nights at Eugene Field School.

In case you only know the bop or the conga, the hook-and-tap refers to a mambo step, the underarm pass to a rhumba turn, and the lady's fan to a dainty little maneuver in the tango.

Graduates of the Little League Can Go On to Bigger Things

By Charles Ayres

From all the talk about Little League you'd think all the boys in the Ranch were between 8 and 12 years of age or that those who do not fit into that age category have nothing to do but chase the girls.

Well, it isn't so. Not that they don't chase the girls, but there are all sorts of organized baseball leagues for the Little League graduate that carry him right into college.

For the boy who has used up his Little League age eligibility, the next stop can be either the Pony League or Babe Ruth League. Both are well organized along the lines of Little League, with national organizations and championship series at the end of the season.

Pony League baseball is for boys 13 and 14 and games are seven innings in length and played on fields half way between Little League and regulation baseball in size.

Pasadena maintains one Pony League for the entire school district—the Rose Bowl Pony League. The league is comprised of eight major and eight farm teams of 15 boys each or a total capacity for 256 boys.

Games are played in early evening at the Washington and McKinley Junior High School athletic fields. The season starts May 7 with a 32-game schedule which will require each team to play at least twice a week throughout the season. Each team is limited to eight 14-year-olds.

Babe Ruth League is for boys 13, 14 and 15 and is played on a regulation diamond. There is again but one league for the entire school district, comprised of 12 teams of 15 boys each or a total capacity of 180.

The season, tentatively scheduled to open May 19, will require each team to play two games a week for 10 weeks. Games are played evenings, Saturdays and Sundays at Victory Park, Brookside Park and Wilson Junior High. A maximum of five 15-year-olds and a minimum of five 13-year-olds are required for each team.

The next stage is Colt League and American Legion, which involve some overlapping of ages. Both of these leagues play on regular diamonds with a full nine innings per game. Colt League is for boys 15 and 16 and American Legion for 16- and 17-year-olds.

Economical performance is the big reason why Ford's the V-8 leader!

It takes a FORD to squeeze maximum power out of today's gasoline

Prefer a SIX?

Ford is the only manufacturer who gives you a Short Stroke Six in the light-duty field. It's the most modern, most efficient Six because it gives you more horsepower per cubic inch than any other Six. You get integral valve guides, free-turn valves and a deep-skirt crankcase for longer, smoother engine operation.

Shown above is the biggest Pickup box in the ½-ton field—a new 8-ft. box, available on the Ford Pickup at low extra cost.

Only Ford gives you modern Short Stroke power—V-8 or Six—in every truck! Short Stroke design means up to 53% more power with no increase in engine size

Just one kind of engine can give you all the mileage built into today's gas. And that's a modern Short Stroke engine—the new kind of truck power pioneered by Ford.

Short Stroke engines develop power that used to be possible only with much bigger engines. And Short Stroke engines do it on less gas! The shorter stroke means less piston travel, which means less friction to waste power and gas, and less wear, too. You also get more usable power to work for you at the rear wheels!

New Ford Trucks save you money when you buy! Ford is America's lowest-priced line of V-8 trucks.* And right now your Ford Dealer is offering attractive terms for spring. Call hi and find out what a sweet deal you can get!

*Based on a comparison of suggested list prices.

'White Sheep of the Family' Is a 'Light-Fingered' Comedy

EDWARD EVERETT HORTON gets an appraisal from Jim Cox, as an underworld character, on a bit of jewelry "picked up" at the opera by Adriana Gutierrez in the role of Horton's daughter.

By Pat Owen

Crime does not pay—except when the criminals are veteran actor Edward Everett Horton and his light-fingered stage family. Mom (Louise Lorimer) and daughter Pat (Adriana Gutierrez) are adept pickpockets and purse snatchers, son (Peter Stickles) is a top-notch counterfeiter and Dad sticks to such harmless pasttimes as relieving wealthy women of family heirlooms.

The play, "White Sheep of the Family," is a sly comedy which giggles in the face of Scotland Yard and advocates a life of crime. The scene is one of wealth and refinement in a beautiful home, with the picture of great-grandfather smiling benevolently on all.

Great-grandfather,.. it happens, was an accomplished counterfeiter in his day, and his smiling face now serves to hide a tool cracking kit.

Eminently respectable members of British high society, the family returns from parties and sessions at the opera to heart-warming little family sessions where everyone displays his or her ill-gotten spoils.

The maid, played by Laura La Plante, is in training, and is constantly embarrassing the family by "practicing" on friends. Pat admonishes her to steal only from the family till she's more accomplished, and then demands her watch returned.

Imagine, I beg you, the shame of the entire family when Peter, the son and heir, decides to go straight—and for a girl! But Peter's heart is obviously not in his relatively dull job as a banking clerk, and no one is happier than he at the surprise ending to the story.

Humor is interposed by the Vicar, Wallace Acton, a delightful embodiment of all forgetful ministers in all comic strips.

The Vicar forgets his hat, his errand, his acquaintances and the drink in his hand. He arises, says he must be going, and sits down again. He accepts a cup of coffee while saying he doesn't care for any.

Angela Preston, played by Carolyn Kearney, is the girl for whom Peter decides to tread the straight and narrow, and she also is the person who provides the surprise ending.

The father is played, as has been stated, by Edward Everett Horton. Mr. Horton has been on stage in roles ranging from minor to major, since "The Bohemian Girl" in 1906, when he shone in the chorus. He also has played extensively in motion pictures and TV.

So, for any thief who is feeling discouraged about the opportunities in his field, I recommend a cheerful evening at "White Sheep of the Family." Better hurry, though, because it leaves the Playhouse on the 25th.

To work wonders a man must learn to labor while he waits.

FIRE FLAMES

By JAMES HEASLEY

One of our local characters not only is known to imbibe too frequently in the elbow exercise, but also has a bad heart condition.

Tacking from one side of the street to the other on a recent occasion, he was contacted by one of our local officers, who debated whether the subject had had too much to drink or whether he was suffering dizziness.

"Boy, you old rascal, you're drunk again," commented the officer. "It's a long way home—you'll never make it in this fix."

"Yes, sir," answered our distinctive neighbor, as he held on to the nearest pole, "it ain't that the street is so long, but why did they make it so wide?"

And then we have the fireman who walked up to the "curious" follower of fire engines and asked him if he would remove his car from the area of the fire.

This driver may not be suffering dizziness or effects of too much liquor, but drivers must be impressed with the importance of staying away from the immediate vicinity of a fire.

Firemen hurrying to get to the scene many times are obstructed by sightseers, who have no particular interest other than watching and criticising. It might well be the proper time to inform those who insist on driving too close to the fire area that firemen now can issue citations for such a violation.

And if drivers continue to obstruct the fire fighters, tickets will be issued.

Jim Cass has been in a quandary as to how to address his mother-in-law.

He hesitated about calling her "Mother" because of his own mother, and to address her as "Mother-in-law" was out of the question, so he asked the Chief what to do about it.

"Well, Jim," smiled the Chief, "it won't be long now until you can call her 'grandma,' so why bother yourself at this date."

Let's continue to be careful around the premises by eliminating all fire-producing materials. Let's keep the FIRES OUT.

Fishing Map of State and Gulf of Mexico Is Placed on the Market in Los Angeles Area

A complete fishing map of the state, also covering Lower California and the Gulf of Mexico, has been placed on the market by the Evergreen Company.

It is titled "1001 Best Fishing Bets in California" and may be obtained at sporting goods stores for $1. If not available locally, copies may be obtained by writing to Evergreen at Post Office Box 1465, Sacramento 7.

There is an annual calendar showing good fishing for every month of the year. The state is divided into three fishing sections—easily accessible areas, ocean fishing grounds, and wilderness angling areas.

Durable Woods

4,700 year-old cars, 18 feet long, were discovered "in very good condition" in 1954 by Kamal El Malakh, Egyptian archaeologist, on the deck of Pharoah Cheops' wooden funeral ship. The ship, with its cars and other fittings were sealed in a stone chamber near the Great Pyramid at Giza about the year 2,746 B.C.

The cars were made of Cedar. This wood, together with Cypress and Redwood, is recognized as one of the world's most durable woods.

When you need Redwood come to Hammond. We have it.

Let us serve you.
